Dear Phil:

Recently, Alan Henriksen was here and discussed with me your October 30, 1984, memo to Barry Rees concerning our "Comprehensive Smoking Education Act." With specific regard to the additives situation, Philip Morris worked in concert with the tobacco industry in dealing with our Federal Government. Contact with the Government was made through the Washington law firm of Covington and Burling. At that time, Fred Newman, in our New York office, was the key contact with Covington and Burling.

I would suggest that you work through Owen Smith to gain the specific background information you need to prepare for future developments in Australia. I am sure Owen can put you in touch with the proper people in either Philip Morris or the industry's retained council in Washington.

I hope this starts you in the proper direction.

Best personal regards,

RBS/lvb
